INTRODUCTION.

1. The sixth edition of the Indian Word Code for Foreign State telegrams should be brought into use on the date officially notified, from which date the fifth edition will become obsolete; copies of that edition should be kept by the holders for one month longer and then destroyed.

2. Names of Stores.—The names of items of stores have for the most part been omitted from the present edition of the Indian Word Code and included in the 1910 issue of the India Office Stores Code.

3. Issue of the Supplement.—Any additions to be made to the Code will appear in the form of separate Supplements, which will be issued periodically. Each new issue of the Supplement will include the matter contained in former issues, so that not more than one Supplement will be in use at the same time.

4. Issue of Lists of Corrigenda.—Any corrections that it may be necessary to make in the Code, either on account of printer's errors, or by reason of phrases becoming obsolete, will be notified in Lists of Corrigenda.

5. Telegraphic Addresses.—The telegraphic addresses registered in London are shown on pages xi to xiii, and those registered in India on pages xiii to xvi and xxviii to xxxiv. Attention is specially invited to the Important Note in paragraph 11 below.

6. In compiling this edition of the Indian Word Code, advantage has been taken of the regulations laid down in the International Telegraph Convention by which 5-letter code words, pronounceable according to the usage of several languages, joined together to form 10-letter groups, are charged for as one word. This should lead to greater economy in telegraphing, but has rendered necessary great changes in the arrangement of the book.

7. The code groups differ from one another by at least two letters, in order to diminish the risk of incorrect interpretations arising out of telegraphic errors. The code groups are built up on a system of values described in the instructions, which has the further advantage of providing an easy means of correcting such errors. It is only possible, however, to obtain about 60,000 pronounceable 5-letter groups with a 2-letter difference, which is insufficient for a code book that covers such a variety of subjects. Ten-letter groups have therefore been allotted to certain phrases that cannot be coded by a pair of 5-letter groups and to uncommon words, especially those consisting of more than 10 letters, which, if sent en clair, would be charged for as two words.

8. Economy is the sole object of this code, and it is hoped that users will forward suggestions for improvement, for incorporation in the code. All suggestions in regard to additions to, or omissions from, the Code should be sent by those who receive their copies of the Code through the India Office, to the Editor of Codes, India Office, London, and by those who receive their copies from the Government of India to that Government. The suggestions will, as far as practicable, be embodied in the Code by means of a Supplement or by Lists of Corrigenda.

9. Special attention is drawn to the specimen messages on pages ix and x. They provide examples of the way in which messages should be coded and written down for transmission, and illustrate the uses of the various appendices.

10. To obtain the maximum of economy when using this book, every possible word should be rendered into code. Specimen message 4 shows how the cost of a message is reduced by half, although, with the exception of significations including numbers, no 5-letter code group represents more than a single word.

It is obvious that economy is not likely to result from the codifying of proper names which are not already in the dictionary. These as a rule should be sent en clair. For the same reason, serial numbers of telegrams should not be coded.

11. A list of holders of the code, together with their telegraphic addresses, is printed on pages xvii to xxvii.

The Code words given against the titles and designations in the vocabulary of the Code, other than those included in the lists of registered addresses referred to above, are intended to be used in the body of telegrams only, and their use in addresses is inadmissible.

12. If a signature is necessary at the end of a message to indicate the sender, the proper registered address should be used and not Code words from the dictionary. Thus, for Controller of Military Accounts, Presidency and Assam District, Calcutta, the registered telegraph address "ZAFFAI," should be used, and not EDOYW.

EXPLANATORY INSTRUCTIONS FOR THE USE OF THE CODE.

ORDER OF WORDS AND PHRASES.

2 The arrangement of a code always presents difficulties This book has been arranged as far as possible on strictly alphabetical lines It is believed that this arrangement is the best Cross references have been made for long phrases under each of the important words composing them

3 Capital Letters separated by full stops are treated as words, thus I S O will be found as if written Iso

"If the latter" comes immediately after "If known" and not after "If the"

GROUPS.

5 Each word or phrase is provided with either a 5 letter or 10 letter code group The 10 letter groups are made up of the two 5 letter groups, the first of which, se, ZOSKA does not vary, and the second appears somewhere else in the book as a single 5 letter group The reason for this is that a single terminational list and the same value serve for both series of groups

6. All these 5-letter code groups are made up on a value system in which the groups are prepared on a numerical basis, each letter having a numerical value corresponding to its place in the alphabet, namely :—

A	1	H	8	O	15	V	22
B	2	I	9	P	16	W	23
C	3	J	10	Q	17	X	24
D	4	K	11	R	18	Y	25
E	5	L	12	S	19	Z	26
F	6	M	13	T	20
G	7	N	14	U	21

7. The "value" of a group is arrived at by adding together the numerical values of all the letters in the group, and then deducting 26 or its multiples. The "value" of the groups used in this code is 20, that is to say, if the numerical values given above are substituted for the letters in any group in the code, the sum of these values will amount to 20, 46 ($26 + 20$), 72 ($26 \times 2 + 20$), 98 ($26 \times 3 + 20$), or 124 ($26 \times 4 + 20$). For example, the sum of the numerical values of the letters forming either of the code words ABAEK or ZEWYS is 20, thus :—

A	1	Z	26
B	2	E	5
A	1	W	23
E	5	Y	25
K	11	S	19
Total	20	Total	98
		Deduct	78 (26×3)
		Total	20

CORRECTION OF TELEGRAPHIC ERRORS.

8. If a corrupt group cannot be rectified by filling in the word or words suggested by the context, the coder should try for an error in a single letter.

9. If one letter only is wrong, it can be easily corrected by applying the value system, in the manner explained by the following example :—

10. A group BEFYL is received in a message and cannot be found in the code. BEFYL has the value 24, which is 4 too much. To obtain the correct group, therefore, a letter 4 less in value must be substituted in turn for each corresponding letter in BEFYL. Where the letter to be changed has a value equal to or less than the amount to be deducted, add 26 to it before the deduction is made.

B = 2	X = 24	B = 2	B = 2	B = 2	B = 2
E = 5	E = 5	A = 1	E = 5	E = 5	E = 5
F = 6	F = 6	F = 6	B = 2	F = 6	F = 6
Y = 25	Y = 25	Y = 25	Y = 25	U = 21	Y = 25
L = 12	L = 12	L = 12	L = 12	L = 12	H = 8
50	72	46	46	46	46
Deduct 26	Deduct 52	Deduct 26	Deduct 26	Deduct 26	Deduct 26
24	20	20	20	20	20

11. If the error is in one letter only, one of these groups must be the correct one. Care should be taken that the meaning of each variation is tried, e.g., a group XYUGY is received, two of the 1-letter variations are XYUGU and XYUCY. These mean £53 and 53 rupees respectively, and either might fit in the context.

12 Errors of more than one letter in a 5 letter group are rare and the correct version can only be found by a process of elimination. A Terminational List (Appendix IV) is included to assist in this process. The various combinations of 2 letter errors to be tried are: say for a group such as DADEF —

From the Code
 Fourth and Fifth letters DAD
 Third and Fourth letters DA F
 Second and Fourth letters D D F
 Third and Fifth letters DA E
 First and Fifth letters ADE

From the Terminational List
DEF First and Second letters
D EF Second and Third letters
A EF First and Third letters

The table below will also be found to be of assistance in the detection of errors. It shows what letters are liable when rendered in Morse telegraphic symbols to be mistaken for other letters.

FORM OF TRANSMISSION

13 The groups forming the message for transmission should be made up into 10-letter groups. This saves expense. (See specimen messages and Introduction para 6)

NUMBERS

14 Cardinal Numbers (including phrases which commence with a cardinal number e.g. 35 feet) are printed in Appendix I (pages 644 to 668) and are not included in the dictionary.

15 Such numbers as are not assigned groups in this Appendix must be coded by two or more groups. For this purpose special plus numbers (e.g. 3000+) are provided. The plus sign indicates that the number is not complete by itself and that the number following is to be added to it. The final number obviously must not be a plus number.

Example —

$$236\,019 = \begin{cases} (i) & 200\,000+ = YKIVE \\ (ii) & 36\,000+ = YIPMI \\ (iii) & 19 = XUZYB \end{cases}$$

16
 Appendix point (e)
 must be used

17 The Ordinal Numbers from First to Hundredth inclusive will be found in their alphabetical order in the dictionary. Those higher than this must be coded in two or more groups employing plus numbers as explained above.

Example —

$$\begin{array}{l} \text{One hundred} \\ \text{and} \\ \text{Ninety fifth} \end{array} \quad \begin{cases} (i) & 100+ \\ (ii) & \text{Ninety fifth} \end{cases}$$

18. Fractions will be found at the commencement of the Numbers Section; a few of them, such as "half," "quarter," are also included as words in the dictionary. Fractions which are not assigned groups should be coded in the following form :—

$$\begin{array}{l} 3 \\ / \\ 26 \end{array} = \begin{cases} \text{Three} & = \text{X O M A S} \\ \text{Fraction Bar} & = \text{W U O O X} \\ \text{Twenty Six} & = \text{X Y A A U} \end{cases}$$

19. Phrases for expressing money are included, for example: £271,616. 17s. 4½d. is coded by the six groups :—

i.e., three 10-letter groups.

TIMES.

20. When times are expressed by the 24-hour clock method the following procedure should be adopted. Any time up to, and including, 9.59 a.m. should be coded by one group taken from the Numbers Section.

Example :—

$$6.10 \text{ a.m.} = 0610 = \text{X E F V O}$$

All times after 9.59 a.m. must be coded by two groups taken from the Numbers Section.

Examples :—

$$\begin{array}{l} 10.5 \text{ a.m.} = \begin{cases} (1) 10 = \text{X U H Y T} \\ (2) 05 = \text{X A Y W Y} \end{cases} \\ 3.30 \text{ p.m.} = \begin{cases} (1) 15 = \text{X U S U M} \\ (2) 30 = \text{X Y D U X} \end{cases} \end{array}$$

DATES.

21. A group for every day of the year is provided in Appendix II, on pages 669–670.

SUFFIXES.

22. Many words exceeding 10 letters in length have been omitted because they are not used frequently enough to justify the allocation of a 5-letter group, and they can be built up of two 5-letter groups. For this purpose the more common suffixes have been included, some of them with optionals.

Examples :—

$$\begin{array}{l} \text{"Academical" can be coded by the two groups for } \begin{cases} \text{Academ} = \text{A C A P Y} \\ \text{ical} = \text{I T B O Z} \end{cases} \\ \text{"Compressible" can be coded by the two groups for } \begin{cases} \text{Compress} = \text{D W U U C} \\ \text{ible} = \text{I T A W S} \end{cases} \end{array}$$

Attention is drawn to the provision in the dictionary of affixes and endings, such as "re," "de," and "ness"; "ent," "er," "ery," "ist," "ilities," "ily," "ingly," etc.

REPETITIONS.

23. Users of this code are reminded that repetitions of corrupt groups can be obtained free of charge if and when it is substantiated that the error has been made in transmission. Where it is suspected that an error has been made in coding or drafting and it is desired to verify the accuracy of a group or groups of a telegram, use should be made of the following phrases :—

1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions and activities. It emphasizes that proper record-keeping is essential for transparency and accountability, particularly in financial matters.

2. The second part outlines the various methods and tools used to collect and analyze data. This includes the use of surveys, interviews, and statistical software to ensure that the information gathered is reliable and valid.

3. The third part focuses on the ethical considerations surrounding data collection and analysis. It highlights the need to protect individual privacy and ensure that data is used only for the purposes it was originally collected for.

4. The fourth part discusses the challenges faced in the process of data collection and analysis. These challenges include issues related to data quality, sample size, and the potential for bias in the results.

5. The fifth part provides a summary of the findings and conclusions drawn from the study. It reiterates the importance of rigorous data collection and analysis practices and offers recommendations for future research.

6. The final part of the document includes a list of references to the sources used in the study, as well as a list of figures and tables that are included in the report.

1. The first step is to identify the problem or question that needs to be answered. This involves understanding the context and the specific requirements of the task.

2. Next, it is essential to gather relevant information and data. This can be done through research, consultation with experts, or by analyzing existing resources.

3. Once the information is gathered, the next step is to analyze it. This involves identifying patterns, trends, and key factors that influence the outcome.

4. After analysis, a plan or strategy should be developed. This plan should outline the steps to be taken, the resources required, and the expected outcomes.

5. The final step is to implement the plan. This involves executing the tasks, monitoring progress, and making adjustments as needed.

6. Finally, the results should be evaluated. This involves comparing the actual outcomes with the expected results and identifying areas for improvement.

7. The process should be documented and shared with others. This helps in learning from the experience and applying the lessons learned to future projects.

8. It is important to maintain communication throughout the process. Regular updates and feedback loops ensure that everyone is on the same page and that any issues are addressed promptly.

9. Flexibility is key. Be prepared to adapt the plan as new information or challenges arise.

10. Finally, celebrate the success. Recognizing the team's efforts and achievements helps in building morale and encourages future collaboration.

11. The process should be reviewed and refined. Identifying what worked well and what didn't helps in improving the process for the next time.

12. The final outcome should be presented and discussed. This provides an opportunity for feedback and to share the results with the relevant stakeholders.

13. The process should be repeated as needed. Continuous improvement is a key principle in many fields.

14. The process should be adaptable. Different situations may require different approaches, so being flexible is crucial.

15. The process should be transparent. Keeping everyone informed about the progress and decisions helps in building trust and accountability.

16. The process should be efficient. Minimizing waste and maximizing resources is a goal in many projects.

17. The process should be scalable. Being able to handle larger or more complex tasks is a sign of a well-designed process.

18. The process should be sustainable. Ensuring that the process can be maintained and improved over time is essential for long-term success.

19. The process should be collaborative. Encouraging input and ideas from all team members leads to better results.

20. The process should be innovative. Finding new and creative ways to solve problems is a key to staying ahead in a competitive environment.

21. The process should be resilient. Being able to handle setbacks and challenges is a sign of a strong process.

22. The process should be adaptable to change. As requirements and circumstances change, the process should be able to evolve accordingly.

23. The process should be measurable. Having clear metrics and indicators helps in tracking progress and evaluating success.

24. The process should be repeatable. Being able to replicate the process ensures consistency and reliability.

25. The process should be flexible. Being able to adjust to different situations and requirements is a key to success.

26. The process should be transparent. Keeping everyone informed about the progress and decisions helps in building trust and accountability.

27. The process should be efficient. Minimizing waste and maximizing resources is a goal in many projects.

1. The first step in the process is to identify the problem or issue that needs to be addressed. This involves gathering information and understanding the context of the problem.

2. Once the problem is identified, the next step is to define the objectives and goals of the project. This helps to clarify what needs to be achieved and provides a clear direction for the team.

3. The third step is to develop a plan or strategy to address the problem. This involves breaking down the problem into smaller, manageable tasks and determining the resources needed to complete each task.

4. The fourth step is to implement the plan. This involves putting the strategy into action and monitoring progress to ensure that the project is on track.

5. The final step is to evaluate the results of the project. This involves assessing the outcomes against the objectives and goals and identifying any areas for improvement.

6. Throughout the process, communication and collaboration are essential. Team members should be kept informed of progress and any changes to the plan, and they should be encouraged to share their ideas and feedback.

7. It is also important to document the project process and results. This helps to provide a clear record of what was done and why, and it can be used to inform future projects.

8. Finally, it is important to celebrate the success of the project. This helps to boost morale and encourages team members to continue to work together effectively in the future.

1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions and activities. It emphasizes that proper record-keeping is essential for transparency and accountability, particularly in financial matters.

2. The second part outlines the various methods and tools used to collect and analyze data. This includes the use of surveys, interviews, and statistical software to ensure that the information gathered is reliable and valid.

3. The third part focuses on the ethical considerations surrounding data collection and analysis. It highlights the need to protect individual privacy and ensure that data is used responsibly and for its intended purpose.

4. The fourth part discusses the challenges faced in the process of data collection and analysis. These challenges include issues related to data quality, sample size, and the potential for bias in the results.

5. The fifth part provides a summary of the findings and conclusions drawn from the study. It reiterates the importance of rigorous data collection and analysis practices and offers recommendations for future research.

6. The final part of the document includes a list of references and a glossary of key terms. This section is designed to provide additional context and resources for readers interested in the topic.

7. The document concludes with a statement of appreciation for the support and assistance provided by the research team and funding sources.

8. The document is signed by the principal investigator, who is responsible for the overall direction and execution of the study.

9. The document is dated and includes a page number to indicate its position within the larger report.

10. The document is formatted according to the standards of the relevant academic or professional organization, ensuring clarity and consistency in presentation.
